

All Terrain

by Paul Walde

A disassembled drum kit is packed in a vehicle without cases or packing blankets. The vehicle is driven on a predetermined route. No unnecessary stops or turns are made.